

Summer 2010 at the Kelowna Art Gallery

On exhibition

The Tree: From the Sublime to the Social

July 24 to September 26, 2010

The Kelowna Art Gallery is pleased to present The Tree: From the Sublime to the Social, which is brought to us by the Vancouver Art Gallery's provincial touring program, Across the Province. This exhibition includes works that range from historical paintings by Emily Carr and members of the Group of Seven, for example, to works by contemporary photographers fascinated by the layers of social meaning linked to the image of a tree.

Dysfunctional Chairs: Trevor Mahovsky and Rhonda Wepler: The Searchers to Sept. 26, 2010

The Kelowna Art Gallery has commissioned Vancouver-based artist-duo Trevor Mahovsky and Rhonda Wepler to create the fifth in our series of Dysfunctional Chairs installations in our outdoor Rotary Courtyard space. Deciding that the greatest degree of dysfunction would be complete absence, the artists have dispensed with chairs altogether and will be installing sculpted, clothed, brightly-painted human figures along the roofline of the space.

Jim Kalnin: Not Far from the Tree

July 16 to September 19

In conjunction with our summer exhibition The Tree: From the Sublime to the Social, local artist Jim Kalnin will be creating temporary charcoal drawings on the walls in The Front project space.
