Haida Gwaii

When you've reached the edge of your world, ours begins.

These Islands are remote and that's part of the appeal for artists who make their home here. •• The natural beauty of this place inspires all kinds of art — from traditional and contemporary Haida carving and weaving, to post-modern quilting, painting and pottery.

•• Unlike other studio tours concentrated over a week or weekend, art route runs year-round. Because of this extended commitment, some artists prefer visitors to call ahead while others maintain regular hours during the entire season. Please, don't be shy about contacting artists or visiting homes and studios during posted hours. •• The economy of the Islands is changing. There is now less emphasis on resource extraction by outside interests and more locally driven solutions. The arts play a large role in this shift and by putting visitors in contact with artists, art route contributes to the livelihoods of artists and business owners. Welcome to these shining Islands and enjoy art route 11.

welcome to masset

With just over 1000 residents, Masset is the gateway to Naikoon Provincial Park. Closer to town the Delkatla Wildlife Sanctuary attracts many migrating birds and visitors throughout the year — it's a birdwatchers paradise with viewing platforms and walking paths. •• Throughout town there are many sculptures, fashioned at the annual chainsaw sculpture competition, and now adorning storefronts, homes and parks. •• If you drive out to Naikoon Provincial Park, along the way you will pass through the Tow Hill Road community, and see old growth forests, stretches of sandy beach with high surf and vistas all the way to the Alaskan panhandle. Also along this stretch are B&Bs, cabin rentals in forested, river and beach settings and of course a couple of cafés.
