Headbones Gallery

□ Vernon

The Drawers, specializes in drawing and contemporary works on paper with a small component of sculpture.

If there is workmanship with integrity, evidence of the hand, and we respond to the impetus, we'll give the works a drawer.

The Drawers manages the storage, exhibition, and sales of drawings and works on paper of more than one hundred visual artists in the gallery.

Each artist is featured in a catalogue produced by Rich Fog Micro Publishing with a written commentary by Julie Oakes. Collectors have

Elissa Anthony Studio & Gallery

□ Bowser

Elissa Anthony is a oil landscape painter and loves her life on Vancouver Island. Her studio and gallery is open to the public Sundays and Mondays noon till 5pm thru the summer months.

Her move from England to Vancouver Island proved inspirational and Elissa has been painting sea, sky and landscapes in oils ever since. Often her paintings take on a slightly native/spiritual lean due to her mixed heritage.

Rogers Chocolates featured four of Elissa's paintings on their Canadian access to about one-thousand catalogued works in the gallery at any given time.

Headbones Gallery is moving forward with a group of artists under the aesthetic of NeoPriest, an acronym that stands for New Pop Realists Intellectually Engaged in Story Telling.

Ian Lowe | Lowe Tide Design

□ Comox Valley

Ian Lowe: First Nations Metal Artist Sculpture, Vancouver Island BC.

With over 30 years in the Welding and Fabricating Industry, Ian has combined these skills to create custom art and design.

Ian's passionate connection with the Natural Environment of the West Coast of Canada transfers into his work, mediums including wood, stone and steel. Each of Ian's works is hand-crafted and highly detailed, commanding a high standard of excellence.

Artist Statement:

My art is a translation of the environment that surrounds me. The energy I receive from nature produces a desire for me to create and share my interpretations with others. Many of my sculptors intertwine mediums such as wood, rock and steel. Combining the natural elements allows me to feel connected to my subject, collecting these pieces is part of the process. Many years of welding service for antique umbrellas and parasols.

At Barrington Brolly, regardless of which era you live or play in, they have you covered.
